Death of Judge Smith's Father.
Mr. James Smith, Sr., of Charleston, father of Judge S. S. Smith of this place, died October 25, 1902, aged 94 years. For sixty-four years he was a citizen of Charleston and vicinity, and was the oldest man in Mississippi county. For more than sixty years he was a member of the Methodist Church, and for nearly as long he was actively engaged in farming, from which occupation he retired about a dozen years ago. A widow, his second wife, and two sons, a daughter and a number of grandchildren and great-grandchildren survive him.

Says It's a Lie.
Mr. Editor: The Elvins Argus in its dirty assaults on John L. Bradley, in an attempt to injure him among my friends, says that he opposed my appointment to the position of State Mine Inspector. I want to brand the statement as a lie made out of whole cloth. Mr. Bradley was my friend throughout, and I know the effective work he did for me. Such misrepresentations are a dirty shame, and I don't intend they shall be made in my name without denouncing them for what they are.
Respectfully,
GEO. K. WILLIAMS.

Card from Mr. Sullivan.
To whom it may concern:
—Roy-Democrat-Register-et al.—have gone so far in their rantings and accusations against John L. Bradley, because he voted for Joseph C. Williams for State Comptroller, I want to say that I was a regularly elected delegate to that convention, and being unable to attend at that time, gave my proxy to Mr. Bradley, because I knew that he could be depended on to look out for the laboring men's interests in the Democratic State platform, which he did. Now, in the interest of the laboring man, I want to further say, that Mr. Bradley voted exactly as I instructed him when he received my proxy, as I was in favor of Mr. Williams for that position. There was no insurrection violated—no violation whatever. Mr. Shaw's candidacy was not an issue in any sense whatever in the county meetings; he was simply recommended by the county convention, leaving the delegates to the State convention to vote as they saw right and proper. All the corruption powder has exploded only to make more Democratic votes Bradley's work for the laboring men, and not his voting against Tom, Dick or Harry, at St. Joseph, is where the thorn pricks Mr. Roy and others.

Death of Mr. Templeton.
Mr. Samuel Green Templeton of this place died very suddenly last Sunday afternoon, Oct. 26, 1902, at the home of his son-in-law, Mr. John Starnell. He had been suffering for some time with gall colic, but last Sunday was feeling comparatively well, when he suddenly fell over from his chair and died in a few moments. Mr. Templeton was born in North Carolina May 19, 1844. When seven years old he removed with his parents to Tennessee and lived near Seaburn, Dyer county. In 1874 he came to Missouri and settled at Clarkton, where he lived until 1891, when he moved to St. Francois county. He was married August 2, 1865, to Miss Sappella Williamson. To them were born four children, three daughters and one son, all of whom, except one daughter who died in infancy, together with his bereaved wife, survive to mourn his death. Mr. Templeton was a consistent member of the Presbyterian Church of long standing, and was a man of sterling character who enjoyed the high esteem of all who knew him. The funeral took place Tuesday morning from the residence of his son-in-law. The family have the sympathy of many friends in their irreparable loss and bereavement.

Since the writing of the article on first page in reply to the Bonne Terre Register, we have received denials from both Mr. Benham of Bonne Terre and Mr. Miller of Elvins that they ever said Mr. Bradley had received any money from Mr. Williams for supporting him for State Comptroller. The D-R is simply exploiting irresponsible rumors that have no grounds in fact whatever.
Farmington has a new paper, the Southeast Missouri Progress, published by Kapp & Kapp, the first number making its appearance last Saturday. We can't say that it fills "a long felt want," but hope there will be business enough for all of us. Farmington is a good town, and like the old hen trying to cover a big nest of eggs, she may "spread herself."
